

REVIVAL WILL SWEEP WORLD, SAYS MORRIS

Soon to Sweep World, Says Evangelist, Who Draws Big Crowd

The greatest religious revival of all ages is soon to sweep over the world, according to the Rev. Frank J. "Tommy" Morris, Texas pastor, who is conducting a series of revival meetings at Tremont Temple.

"We are either going to have the great revival or go out of business," declared the evangelist, "something is going to happen that will change the world."

Mr. Morris is a tall, thin man, with a long, straight nose and a wide, open smile. He is dressed in a dark suit and a white shirt with a high collar. He is speaking into a microphone and has a large crowd of people gathered around him.

The Quail was on a mission off the coast of Massachusetts. McDonald was the only man on board who was not a member of the crew. He was a civilian who had been transferred to the Quail from the USS Albatross.

Davis Would List Aliens to Assure Education

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 2.—As one of "America's" best of God-fearing citizens, Secretary of Labor Davis in a letter to Representative Albert Johnson, Republican, Washington, chairman of the Immigration and Naturalization Committee, urged compulsory registration of all aliens as a means of assuring their proper care and education for future citizenship.

He said that had the literacy test now given aliens been applied "where my father came," the United States, he probably would not have been admitted.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON ACTIVITIES OF SOCIETY

Presentation of Debutantes Resumes After Holiday Interlude

Miss Elizabeth Richardson is just one of Boston's younger set enjoying the Winter sports at Woodstock, Vt. This is one of New England's most popular Winter resorts, where skiing, snowshoeing, coasting and tobogganing form the endless chain of Winter fun.

MISS ELIZABETH RICHARDSON

By BETTY ALDEN
THE last fortnight has revealed a marked difference between the debutante activities of Boston and of New York. Although the last two weeks were very hectic ones for the last contingent in Gotham—nearly an evening event without two or more important events for these much-feted personages—it seems as though some manner of truce must have been declared in the Hub regarding "debut" affairs, and it is only this week that "hostilities" or "festivities" are beginning again here—and with a right good will.

The appearance of the debutantes upon the social calendar left the smart set quite willing to take a much needed rest to recover, but from the whirling round of gaieties leading up to Christmas. Many families made their way to various northern points of New England to enjoy the Winter sports and to which to resume the hundred and one social affairs of the coming month.

One of the most important presentations taking place in New York last week was the ball given by George T. Bonner at the Colony Club in honor of his two debutante granddaughters, Miss Maude Cabot, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Higginson Cabot, and Miss Florence Lockwood, second daughter of Mrs. Mary I. Lockwood. Miss Cabot, who is connected with the Cabot family of Boston, has three brothers, all of them Harvard men; Francis Cabot, Jr., graduated with the class of '17, George B. Cabot is a senior, while the youngest, Quincy Shaw Cabot, will graduate a year from next June.

On the same evening of Miss Cabot's and her cousin's presentation ball, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer L. Schiff gave a similar affair at their home on Park avenue for their debutante daughter, Miss Dorothy Schiff. The guests numbered between 500 and 600 at both affairs, and many of the young guests went on from one to the other. Naturally, a number of important dinners preceded the two dances, and the various guests attending them divided after leaving the dinner parties, some of them going to the Schiff's, and others to the Bonner dance.

One of this week's deb affairs is the dinner which Mrs. Henry J. Hall of No. 352 Commonwealth avenue is to give on Friday evening at her home in honor of her daughter, Miss Anna Hall, and Miss Priscilla Chapp. The guests will include the young men who are to serve as partners at the dance later that evening in honor of Miss Chapp at the University Club.

Attracting of Miss Hall, a luncheon will be given for this debutante at the Hotel Somerset on the following Thursday, January 12, from 4:30 until 7 o'clock. The affair is being given by her mother and her aunt, Mrs. Frank King Nash.

The sources for the occasion will be in charge of Miss Nell Whitney, who came out a year ago, and will include the Misses Priscilla Chapp, Clara Harris, a debutante; Betty Cole, Ethel Cummings, Rachel Preston Burgess, Mary Brewster, Elizabeth Morse, Elizabeth Anderson of New York, Mary Hall and Nina Fletcher.

Several other affairs will be given later in the month for Miss Hall, who is of the May school group of girls.

January 12, by the way, promises to stand out as a red letter date on the deb calendar, for besides the tea-dance in honor of Miss Hall, Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard of Commonwealth avenue is giving a ball that evening for her debutante daughter, Miss Priscilla Pollard. Also on the same evening comes the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lowell Coolidge are giving at the Chilton Club for their daughter, Miss Jane R. Coolidge. Breaking of the debutantes, the Junior League will resume its weekly luncheon again tomorrow.

The luncheon last week having been given up because of the holidays. The League's entertainment committee has arranged to have Mrs. Henry speak at tomorrow's luncheon. Her subject will be, "The Modern Novel in Relation to Modern Women."

BOYS BLAMED FOR SOMERVILLE FIRE

Two boys, one six and the other ten, are believed by the police to have started a fire in the office of the Tilo Roofing Company, at No. 254 Somerville avenue, Somerville, today. The fire was extinguished by flow No. 2, stationed just across the street. The damage was slight. After the blaze was out Patrolman Kilpatrick discovered evidence of a break and after an investigation found the two boys. The older is alleged to have confessed to breaking into the building through a window, and starting the fire by mistake. A smoothing iron dropped by a man in bed at No. 2 Lenoxwood place, Somerville, today, started a fire that did $10 damage.

Fresh From Paris Latest Word From Marie Suzanne

DONNELLY sends a tailor and Jenny, a frock to illustrate recent features of the mode. In the sketch at the left, a full two-tiered coat body descends from a semi-robe, which is cut in one with the skirt; beneath this coat the skirt hangs contrastingly straight and plender. The wide collar and equally wide cuffs are of mesh, and the tailor-truff is of mustard-colored velvet.

BLACK wool rep, over which Paris is especially enthusiastic, makes a daytime frock of much charm. The round-necked, long-sleeved bodice centres its efforts to be decorative in a French blue velvet girde trimmed with a group of matching flowers. Long, slender panels that rise over the front and back of the girde fall below the skirt edge, with the effect of graceful ash ends.

DEER AND MOTORCYCLE

JAPAN'S PRINCE RECENT HOLDS FIRST COURT

American Ambassador Warren Is Among Participants in Brilliant Assembly

By International News Service.
Tokio, Jan. 2.—A return of touch of the brilliance of the Japanese court of other days marked the beginning of the new year, Hivalito, Prince Regent of the empire, held his first court at the imperial palace, symbolizing the transfer of power from the Emperor, who is seriously ill at his Winter villa at Hara-by-the-Sea.
The court scene was a brilliant one as the Prince Regent received the foreign diplomatic corps, following their initial reception by high Japanese dignitaries in the Hall of Phoenix.
Neither Emperor or Empress attended the court, but the Prince Regent exercised all the powers he would have if he himself were emperor.

Sir Charles Elliot, British Ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, was the first of the envoys received by the Prince Regent. He was followed by Baron Altoni, Ambassador from Italy; Dr. Wilhelm
Solf, German Ambassador; M. D'Almeida Gontijo, Portuguese Ambassador; and Charles H. Warren, Ambassador from the United States.

As a result of the Pacific treaty negotiated at the Washington conference, relations are closer between Japan and America than at any other time, but this did not seem to alter change in the fixed court procedure.

WALLACE SEES BETTER TIMES FOR FARMERS

Washington, Jan. 2.—"The farmer can enter the new year in a spirit of hopefulness and good cheer," declared Agriculture Wallace today in a New Year's message to farmers. "I see nothing which indicates boom times for the farmer in the near future," he continued, "but there does seem to be promise of better times both for the farmer and for those whose business is largely dependent upon him."

STATEN ISLAND WOMAN SEEKING LOST UNCLE HERE

Mrs. Blanche M. Lester of No. 1798
Richmond avenue, Bufl's Head,

Boston seeking to trace her uncle,
John Sullivan, who was last heard from working in this city. He was born in Leominster, Mass., fifty-two years ago, weighs about 160 pounds and has light hair and brown eyes.
For some time he worked for the United Fruit Company on a North River pier in New York.

ALYS LORRAINE IS TO WED RICHARD NORTHCOAT

London, Jan. 2.—Alys Lorraine, formerly an American soprano, will

St. George's Church, Hanover Square, on Thursday. It is announced by newspapers here. For the last fifteen years Miss Lorraine has been president on the concert and opera stage in Europe.

A habit well worth forming

LIKE a personal introduction to some of the finest homes is a walk past
the "window-rooms" of Paine's.

Just as in the home, every room has its own personality, so each great window, an entirety in itself, gives us a glimpse of a different room, each with its individual atmosphere. Such an atmosphere cannot possibly be given by a display of the separate pieces, no matter how beautiful in themselves.

Suggestions are abundant in these "window-rooms," each so different from its neighbor. First, we may see a formal hall, a dignified, impressive introduction to the rest of the home; then, perhaps, a living-room, inviting to ease and comfort; and moving on, we next discover a dining-room with delightful dining table and other pieces as aids to the enjoyment of eating.

Do you find it hard at times to imagine just how pieces of furniture would look, all assembled and grouped as in a finely fitted room? Then you too should form the habit of walking periodically past
the "window-rooms" of Paine's!

GLORY THAT IS PLENTIFUL ENOUGH TO GO AROUND IS SELDOM FULLY APPRECIATED

OLD-TIME GOLF STARS REALLY AS GOOD AS
THOSE OF TODAY

By JACK HITCHCOCK
In the early days of St. Andrews a player who impressed me greatly, and one who will live always in my memory as being possibly the greatest amateur golfer that ever lived, a club was Freddie Tait, whose career was cut short by a stray bullet in the liver Jan. 1920.

Tait was much older than I am. He was thirty when he was killed, but his height of his career, living at St. Andrews, I, of course, along with all the other boys, looked up to Freddie as a great hero.

Stories of Freddie's greatness and his skill at the game are still told around the old town. I don't know whether another man ever lived at St. Andrews more famous or better than Freddie Tait, unless it was old Tom Morris. He is always associated with the famous Scottish course.

Tait was becoming a great factor in amateur golf just before his tragic death. He won the championship in 1916 and repeated again in 1918. The following year he was runner up to John Ball, but victory came to him only after a hard-fought battle had been played.

Tait possessed everything one needed in playing the game. He was a pure, as we call it, "natural" with a rare golf temperament or "good nerve." All of this he combined with a record score.

Amateur championships were won in Great Britain by Tait's day. They were won in 1917 and 1918 by Tait, who won his first title. He also repeated the next year, then gave way to John Ball.

The first British championship was won just two years before Freddie was introduced into America. Strange to say, an amateur tournament with the big title involved was a long time coming.

The open was started as far back as 1880, but evidently an amateur tournament was not considered of any great importance. The first championship only had forty-two entries, and there was not as much interest.

There were thirty-eight the following year. I believe it was because golf was more popular then.

WIFE AFTER THE WITCH
ZBYSZKO

Elwood Will Back Charley Against Champion for $10,000 Side Bet

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 2.—J. W. Elwood, manager of the Farmer Bureau, recently, press, today announced his willingness to match Charley Hansen, Omaha's wrestling champion, against any wrestler in the world. In betting his debt, Elwood specially mentions Stanislaus Zbyzsko, who went three hours to a house in Kansas at Nashville, offering any sum of $10,000 as a side bet with the match on a winner-take-all basis.

Like Frank Ozich, Hansen is a product of Farmer Bureau, possibly the best wrestler of his weight and inches in the world. He is a native of Poland, and has won many titles. He is fast, game and best of all, possesses a "heart."

It is his most recent match that has "hot" with big Zbyzsko, with all the crowd presumably in the arena. The action of the referee in stopping the match has been a subject of much controversy. It is said that he was only twenty under.

Instead of him going into a hot, hot and hot, big Zbyzsko, with all the crowd presumably in the arena. The action of the referee in stopping the match has been a subject of much controversy. It is said that he was only twenty under.

Prohibition agents will be using this incident for looking into our courts. A man can point the machine to him.

Contractual relations with the players will be more harmonious and there will not be the historic "strike" in baseball. The season's changes of teams last year helped to break the "strike" in baseball. The season's changes of teams last year helped to break the "strike" in baseball.

There are likely to be other factors of importance before the Spring meeting, scheduled to be held in New York on February 14, which will have an influence in increasing the interest.

"With the New York Nationals in the role of world's champions this year, it is likely to prove an attraction in the National League, and a season to be remembered in the history of baseball."

DIMPSE FEARS
AN NERVOUS
COLLAPSE

Champion Linn Is On Verge of Breakdown and May Never Fight Again

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, in planning a temporary retirement from all stage, ring and society activity, it is doubtful if he will appear in the ring the coming year to defend his title and it may be two years before he will don the gloves again.

Dempsey, himself, is authority for the statement that he is on the verge of a nervous breakdown and that he is seeking the cancellation of all contracts that require his presence in the United States for a year. It is known that he is in the hands of a doctor, and he is seeking the cancellation of all contracts that require his presence in the United States for a year.

The champion long has had a nervous breakdown and he is seeking the cancellation of all contracts that require his presence in the United States for a year. It is known that he is in the hands of a doctor, and he is seeking the cancellation of all contracts that require his presence in the United States for a year.

A lot more people will like it when they don't have to get up next to it. This will be a great thing for doctors; they can now treat asthma by wireless.

Doctors who send wireless by wireless will have to be sent to the hospital. A woman's prohibition agent in Augusta may get the best of it.

This new invention will send all nicotine cases through the air and ought to be healthy. It will keep everybody out of doors.

Ashtoria suffers who can't afford a doctor will be unable all day and treatment which brings no relief in the next hour.

Doctors who send wireless by wireless will have to be sent to the hospital. A woman's prohibition agent in Augusta may get the best of it.

Pat McCarthy Rules
Favorite for Lynn
Go With Choynski

By JACK CONWAY
Pat McCarthy, Rosbury's candidate for mayor in the light-weight night division, will continue his merry life during the last round at the Casino A. C. Lynn tonight. McCarthy won his last start by disposing of Captain Bob Roper in twelve rounds at Providence.

McCarthy will be a favorite tonight. This does not mean, however, that the Rosbury youth will have any chance of winning. He is one of those rugged, two-handed fighters who usually give the fans plenty of action.

The Buffalo warrior has fought Angus Bather, Boller, Barfield, Hutch, Orligan, Bob Juba, and Jackie Clark.

The rest of the card follows: Billy Shannon, Lynn and Joe Parnass; Quinny, eight rounds; Young Merrier of Danvers and Bobby Clark of Salem, six rounds; Young Hark of Lynn and Jimmy Pato of Beverly, six rounds; Billy Shannon of Lynn and Baiting House of Lynn, six rounds.

The Olympic A. C. of Brockton will stage its coming show Friday night, with Harry Carlson pitted against George (Killer) Walker, the main event of the night. The card will include Scotty Forbes of Brockton and Ray Lajoie of Providence, and other fighters.

Some of our leading managers intend, for the time being anyway, to refrain from managing both boxes to a contest.

Some of the naughty boys at the Casino, who have been added to operate very carefully on account of the Betting Commission, may even admit that Messrs. Roper, Hutch and Barret have helped the ring game just a little bit.

Perhaps some of our boxes will try their true wits this year. PERHAPS!

Tony Palanzo writes that Paul Doyle, not Steve, was the one who injured a hand in the recent meeting at the Armory Club's show. Palanzo says he did not intend to present any fight, but he considered that he would be doing Doyle an injustice if he did not let it be known that Paul injured his right hand in the third round. It was in this frame that Doyle all but scored with his knockout.

Shelvin may be given a chance to battle Mickey Walker. The writer believes that Eddie's superior fighting and true generosity would enable him to defeat the Newark entry.

St. Joseph's A. A. will stage an amateur boxing tournament Friday night. There will be ten bouts at 115, 125, 135 and 145 pounds. The Newark entry, which will fight at 145 pounds and when at his weight.

Walker received at long range warfare, but at close quarters the margin was in favor of the latter. Another Walker-Segal match would make a card with the fans.

It is said that some of our best Little maulers have resolved to meet Friday night. There will be ten bouts at 115, 125, 135 and 145 pounds. The Newark entry, which will fight at 145 pounds and when at his weight.

Basketball Game at Watertown Town Hall Tomorrow Night
Should Be Fast

Tomorrow night the Watertown Town team will take on the fast Weymouth A. A. in the Town Hall, Watertown. Weymouth has beaten some of the strongest teams around Boston. Watertown has also run up a long string of victories and this should be one of the fastest games of the season.

Dorr, formerly with the Celtics, a high point scorer for Watertown, aided by Mooney of Boston College and Mahoney of Holy Cross, the other forwards.

Hutchinson, ex-captain of Dartmouth, is rated as one of the best centres in this section. Raymond Ertel, coach of Belmont High School, and Owen Keefe of Tufts, assisted by John Keefe of B. U., make an interesting night's work for the opponents' forwards.

Watertown still has a few open dates for home games Tuesday nights as well as outside games for Thursday, Friday or Saturday nights and would like to hear from some of the strongest teams.

St. Mary's Catholic Association won its opening home game at the N. J. Y. M. C. A. gymnasium against the strong Winthrop Post American Legion team.

Winthrop lineup will be: Tony W. Talcott, R. Talcott, Wilbur Sheehan, Griffiths. The St. Mary's team has the likes of Hines or last year's: Dennis McKenzie, Bernie Kelly, Bunnie Haley, Munna Haley. Tom Hines is the star of the team against the Canton K. C. at Canton winning handily.

THIS IS A DIFFERENT YEAR
THE BOXER

I've taken my socks on the point of the chin,
On the nose and the ear and the pan;
I've always been flat, on the rosy mat
Just after the battie began.
I haven't a dime, or a friend in the world,
When I show, how the rosters all jeer;
But listen, old scout, hereafter look out,
For this is a different year.

THE GOLFER

NO matter how often I tried to improve,
I Took lessons, and worked with the pro.
I never could swing, or do a blamed thing
That a golfer really should know.
There wasn't a shot, I had in my bag;
My putting was awful and sure;
I once used to flub, like any old sub-
BUT, this is a different year

THE BASEBALL FAN

WHEN B. Ruth and Speaker, and others are great Played ball for the Sox, all was well,
 We went to the park, and we stuck there till dark
 And those babies could sure make us yell
 For Scotty and Stuff were right on the job,
 With the rest of the league in the rear;
 But now we will rave, at the Home of the Brave;
 For this is a different year.

THE FOOTBALL COACH

MY athletes were walloped full many a time,
All my stuff was knocked floo-ey with ease.
And the tricks that we tried, were battered aside
By the teams that looked softer than cheese.
The whacks that we got when the experts cut loose
Fell harshly, and mean, on the ear.
But wait till next Fall, we'll get even and all,
I hope, and you.

THE HOSS PLAYER

THE bookies collected a whole wad of jack
And the bankroll is ruined and slim.
For the nags that were tipped, threw jockeys and slipp
And a guy couldn't e'er get a win.
Just thought of the money thus frittered away
Would wring from a mummy a tear;
But now to make good, as its high time we shou
For this is a different year.

THE WHOLE OF US

A PEEK, and the future is rosy, fair.
 What is gone is forgotten and dead
 There always is hope, in the wake of the dope
 For the fellow who gazes ahead,
 So bury your trouble and that sort of stuff
 Step out with a yell and a cheer,
 It'll help you a pile, to start off with a smile,
 For this is a different year.

SNIP, SNAP, and you are transformed from a mediocrity skirted shirt to a knickerbocker cut! That's why it's a snappy style. Very fashionable and practical, both for sport and street wear. A few hooks and snaps tell the story.

WOMEN Are Always Catching Some Poor Fish! Mrs. Keith Spaulding has just landed, at Catalina Island, Cal., one and largest broad-tail swordfish ever caught by a woman. Weighed 126 pounds.

AT 'EM, GANG! One of the loudest, and really the prettiest rosters at today's football game between Washington & Jefferson and California at Pasadena, Cal., was Miss Estelle Taylor, mascot for the Pennsylvania outfit. We're rooting for her. She'll win even if her team doesn't. (W.W.)

SHE'S STEERING

Strait into Fame! Miss Anna F. Clark of Newburyport, Mass., is a winner in the Pretty Materialist Test. A check for $5 will be mailed to her. No more pictures will be received for the Test after Jan. 15. Better get busy!

THESE young lion cubs are playful, like newspaper cubs. Shows with H. A. Snow, curator, of Oakland, Cal., who traveled 83,000 miles with them. Captured them in Africa after killing their mother. Snapped on arrival in U. S. (International.)

SAY IT WITH RADIO! Dan Talbot, Florida farmer, resorts to his small radio when working on outskirts of his large farm. That's how Mother Talbot summons him to dinner. Both, needless to say, are wireless fans. (P.)

MRS. LYDIE HOYT, nationally known society woman, who is the subject of many letters from her social peers because of the "raising" critics gave her acting in her first professional appearance in N. Y. (P.)

THIS IS THE THING THAT STARTED IT! Case upon old grandpa firmer, badly bent and rather wheezy of voice, but still the first of its kind to succeed California. It created more excitement than the gold rush and twice as much noise. It was recently exhibited at a California celebration.

EH, BIEN! Georges, he is always kissing something or somebody. If it isn't the camera, it's a friend. M. Carpentier, who fights George Cook in London soon, is shown kissing the Minister of Interior, he says, M. Valadier. (International.)

WINTER HAS ITS CHARM! This, according to the designer, is a Winter bathing suit. Whether practical or not, it must be admitted that it is novel. Seen on a California beach. (Underwood.)

THE FAT OF THE LAND! "Happy" Jack Eckhart, who scales the scales at a mere 739 pounds, says he doesn't make much money, but he has a whole lot of a good time. Jack, who is 34, measures 108 inches around the waist. Beside him is our old friend, George D. Rogers and his wife and child. The child, Margaret, is a rolling youngster. Unless her parents, who is perfectly developed, she and Mrs. Rogers are well known in Greater Boston. (W.W.)

A DEFENSIVE PROGRAM FOR THE UNITED STATES

First, a navy equal to that of any power which threatens to attack us, whether that force be a single nation or an alliance of nations.

Second, a sufficient air fleet and a sufficient submarine fleet fully to protect our coasts and prevent the landing of hostile troops, even if our navy should be destroyed in action.

Third, a merchant marine to be used for the development of our commerce in times of peace, and the protection of our commerce in times of war.

Fourth, a military training for our boys in public schools, which will both strengthen them physically and enable them, with slight additional preparation, to become a defensive guard if their country should ever be invaded.

Fifth, national universities similar to those at West Point and Annapolis, whose graduates, in addition to a general scientific course, shall acquire a sufficient military education to enable them to be officers in case their country at any time should call them to its defense.

Finally, fortified naval bases from which our fleets could operate to keep the devastation of war far from our own shores.

This is not an offensive program. It is purely a defensive one. It cannot arouse any opposition from any power which does not contemplate the possibility of attacking us.

When a nation like Japan objects to stationary fortifications it merely objects to preparation for defense against contemplated attack.

And when a nation like England objects to a submarine fleet to patrol and protect our coasts, it objects merely to the effective opposition that would be offered to a descent upon our coasts similar to that which England made in 1814, when she landed her troops on our soil and burned the Capitol at Washington and the White House of the President.

Words are good when backed by deeds and only so, as Roosevelt said, and as Washington said a hundred years before him. Certainly words are not good when they are in direct contradiction to previous deeds and characteristic practices.

Therefore, our people should not be misled by deceitful words and false promises if they have enough to know the true state of affairs and the confirmed courses which nations like England and Japan have pursued in the past toward their rivals.

"Darkest Before Dawn"

Only a Few Years Ago Freedom for Ireland Seemed to Be Very Far Away

A few days ago, the proposal to establish an Irish Free State was debated in the House of Lords. The honor of presenting the compromise between Ireland and England was given to Lord Morley, the last living associate of Gladstone in the old fight for Irish home rule.

Lord Morley is now an old man, but newspaper reports say that he rose to the occasion, his memory rejuvenating him as it called back the ancient struggles.

Carson, now a member of the House of Lords, the zenith of progressive rewards for his treason, replied to Morley on behalf of Ulster. It is interesting to read what he says, because it will give us some idea of the extent of the victory which the resolution of the people of Ireland and the skill and courage of their leaders have wrought. Carson shouted: "Not a soul in this House believes that the peace terms have been passed on their merits. They were passed with a revolver at the heads of Ministers. You passed them because Sinn Fein, with its army in Ireland, has beaten you. Then why don't you say so? But you have said so. The great British government has been reduced to telling India, Egypt and everybody else that they have not got men enough or the pluck to restore law and order in Ireland."

It was less than five years ago that the British were shooting the intellectual leaders of Ireland without trial, and home rule seemed farther away than ever. Ireland's victory proves the truth of two sayings of very sage philosophers:

"It is always darkest just before dawn," and

"The worse a thing is, the better it is."

Stop Public Service Graft

Once More Legislature Is Asked to Limit Practices That Add to Public's Burden

The Public Utilities Board has recommended again to the Legislature the passing of a law to prohibit the officers of a public service corporation from making a profit directly or indirectly from the purchase of equipment for these companies.

It ought not only to be a civil law offense, but it ought to be an offense against the criminal law, and the Public Utilities Board ought to be charged with the duty of reporting such things to the prosecuting officers of the State.

If there were opposing political parties among the stockholders of public service corporations and they were as active in watching the management of the business by the opposing faction as the citizens of one party are actively watchful of the conduct of the government by the other party, we should soon discover that the graft which goes on in our public service corporations under private management is about ten times as great as goes on in the government.

What is criminal on the part of a politician is an accepted thing on the part of the officials of a public service corporation, and yet the moral turpitude and the public injury of graft in a public service corporation, among its private managers, is just as great as the same kind of graft in the government. In either case the people pay.

Lenin Can Change His Mind

And That Means Strength

Copyright, 1921, Hearst Company

The man is weak indeed who has not the strength to change his mind. Ask Lenin of Russia. That man is powerful who can make a hundred million change their minds when he changes his. Lenin can do that. He just HAS done it.

Lenin said money wasn't necessary, honest workmen and brawny arms were everything; capitalists were worthless. Now all the factories in Russia are closed, and Russian money won't buy anything.

Lenin will bring back the capitalists, try to build up Russian money and reopen the factories, and Russia is with him.

A Frenchman who understood human nature, to-wit, the able Voltaire, said that if there had been no God it would have been necessary to invent one. Lenin discovers that if there had been no "curved class of capitalists" it would have been necessary to invent one.

He is trying to invent or create it for Russia.

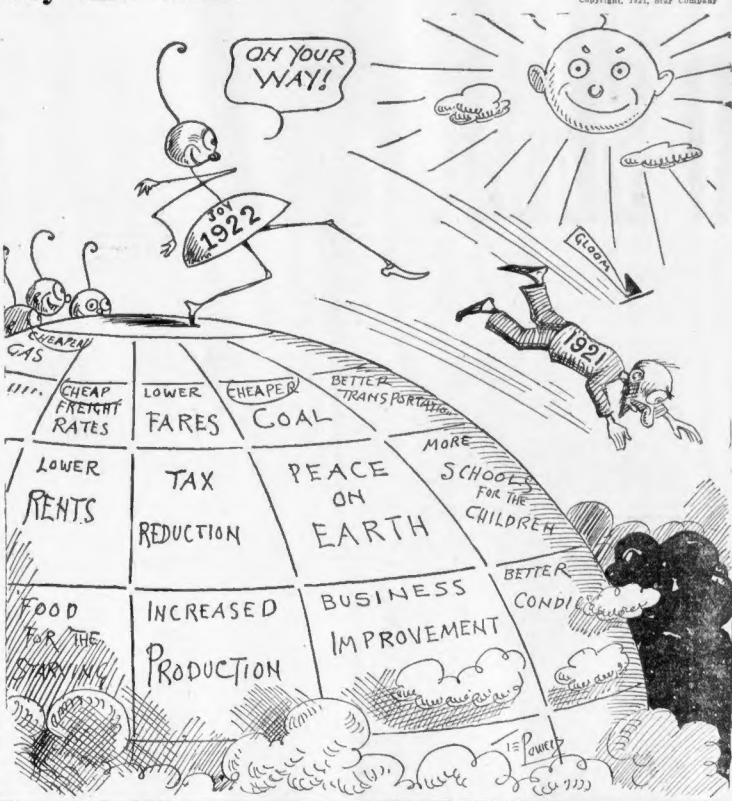

Banks for the Worker

Proof of Wisdom and Progress

The employees of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts have organized a co-operative bank and a credit union for their own use and advantage. This is a fine thing to do. It shows esprit de corps, wisdom and progress.

One of the railroad unions has established its own bank and proposes to be independent of private banks. This also is a wise thing to do. It is through the control of credit that the bankers control the railroads and other great industries of the country, and have achieved a concentration of power that is inconsistent with the safety of a democratic republic, such as we want ours to be.

Joy and Gloom

To the Editor

Sight Worth While

Editor Christmas Basket Fund:

It was certainly a source of great pleasure to see the large number of people flocking from every section of Dorchester last Saturday to the St. Andrew parish house, all donating recipients of one of your Christmas baskets.

The smiling, happy faces, as well as the cheerful encouraging words, gave abundant testimony of the practical charity of the Boston American and the hearty cooperation of the officials and the thousands who made it possible.

Gratitude and appreciation were manifested on all sides. I must refer to the energetic and efficient work of Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Roff, who had charge of the distribution. J. H. HARRIGAN, St. Andrew Church, Dorchester.

Problem Affects All

"No scene is more dramatic than a labor hearing. On one side of the room sit presidents, managers, council and statisticians of great railroads. On the other are the officials and experts of the unions. A stranger could not distinguish between the two groups, both being alert and efficient bodies of men."

At such a meeting we have focused the paramount labor problem of the nation, a problem that touches every man, woman and child in the country.

"It represents the Government's experiment, devised to ascertain whether the differences between the capital and labor should be adjusted by the ordinary process of a judicial tribunal, or whether the people should continue to suffer the loss, inconvenience and misery incident to labor disturbances."

"At this time, as the ultimate success or failure of our free institutions is wrapped

BIGGEST DRAMAS ARE IN BUSINESS, INDUSTRY

Vice-Chairman of Railroad Labor Board Tells of Heroic Struggles of Great Forces

By EARL L. SHAUB.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—What is the greatest drama in the world? In the opinion of Hon. W. Hooper, Vice-Chairman of the Railroad Labor Board, the big human interest stories of modern life are being enacted in business and industry.

"It is in this field," he told me, "that we witness the tragic conflict of immovable social forces and see the heroic struggle of real men and women." This former Governor of Tennessee then related how he has been gripped by the color and intensity of the labor situation since he became a member of the Federal board less than a year ago.

All Part of Public

"This is as it should be, for these men recognize that they are not on the board as advocates of the respective disputants, but that they also, in a high sense, represent the general public."

"After all, the railroad owners and the employees are merely segments of the public."

"No practicality on the lack of uniformity of plans and ideas among the labor group vote in favor of the contention of the carriers."

ARE YOU AN OFFICE GROOM?

You are holding a position and its importance makes you feel that you must not sterner of word and face when you enter your office.

Therefore you assume a character which is unnatural to you. You have schooled yourself to this, believing that you get better results.

Pretence shows under your eye work better when it is so, but as soon as you are not watching them they will not give the same service as they do otherwise.

Under the influence of your society the men work like machines. They are not men, but as soon as you are gone they relax from the strain.

Whatever you may think, you do not get as good work out of men who are trained and treated like machinery.

The man who feels easy and interested will do more than the man who has to be watched to get anything out of him.

LOVE-DUTY PROBLEM A HARD TEST

By Nellie Bly

HOW shall a man decide between two great loves of his heart—the love for his wife and the love for a little child? The bonds of matrimony are no stronger than the ties of child love. Does he owe his honor to the wife he truly loves, or to the child he truly loves who needs him?

The love and devotion of his wife have been pure and steadfast for many years. The love and devotion for the child have been strong and overwhelming for five years. Which will prove the stronger? Which should triumph? Which should be desert? And to which should he cling?

It is a number of years since a young man met and fell in love with a young widow who was the mother of two baby boys. He loved the girl madly from the first time they met, and he loved her children as fondly as if they were his own.

Indeed, as time went by, he almost forgot they were the children of another man. The boys grew and were given every advantage that the parents could afford. Their education was carefully supervised, their health was watched and they were thoroughly trained as violinists until today, at the age of fourteen and sixteen years, they are quite gifted musicians.

Love of a Father

The eternal struggle of sadness in an otherwise happy home was the fact that he had no children of his own. Prior to his marriage he had looked upon children as a nuisance and a plague. But the daily contact with his wife's two boys aroused the father love within.

GIVING OLD SATAN ALL THAT IS HIS DUE

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

CAN you take the devil by the collar? If not, then this is no article for you. Unless, perhaps, the reading may develop in you a deeper respect for His Satanic Majesty.

Recently the writer had occasion, in the course of an article printed in this paper, to use the familiar phrase about giving the devil his due. A friend asked him today who the devil is and what he is due.

"Which recalls a story," they tell of a certain French Canadian curé, whose theology and demagoguery are doubtless hotter than his English, that one Sunday he announced a sermon on the Devil.

He would divide his sermon into three parts, said he; the first he would call, When the Devil he is; the second, Why the Devil he is; and the third, Where the Devil he is.

For our purpose here, the devil is a figure of speech, metaphorical rather than metaphysical.

It is a symbol, an unconstructive like the Satan of Milton's Paradise Lost—at the worst, a fallen angel; or like the Memnonides of Goethe's Faust, the spirit that always walks the had and always works the evil.

Still treated as a symbolic figure, he lures us toward evil and tempts us for yielding to temptation; thus giving us the bitter-sweet spirit of the world of our temptations.

He causes us successive deaths in sin, from which we rise by means of recent sin in stepping stones of our dead selves consequent to higher things.

And so the devil may represent the Eternal Challenge of a world of life to man creature of dust and of the Spirit!

The Eternal Challenge to dare and to do, to seek and to know, to strive and to achieve, to push and to become—dare, out of the struggle, ever to gather strength for our triumphant journey toward life!

Already we feel that we have herewith almost given the devil his due. But the obvious still remains to be said, and that means what is owing.

Therefore, even the devil should not be denied justice at the hands of mankind, though he is presumed to be a devil.

Not a poor description for general conduct—but prematurely serviceable for regulation of our relationship with the goat-headed one!

"And I Did Eat"

We are so prone to be unfair to him. We are so prone to blame him, because he caters to our desires. Like the old Adam, the first of his to each of us, we are so likely to say, "He made me do it."

"The Woman Took gavage to be with me, she gave me of the tree and I did eat."

And the Woman, related to every every descendant Eve, can always be heard plaintively translating, into modern, personal terms, the original sin and accusation: "The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat."

Now, that is candidly, cruelly unfair to the devil, the serpent, the woman—whatever plotting that lure and challenge to man may happen to suggest.

By this time, we ought to be secure enough and brave enough to give the devil his due.

Remember still, we are not talking of the devil, the devil, the Hebrew and Christian. We hold no brief for him. He can take care of himself. He always has done it.

Now are we, frankly, so much concerned for even the metaphorical devil and his dues as for Man, the actor of his own destiny?

Good can come to us out of every one of these things, and with the luring spirit—though not, therefore, to be summoned or sought—like Jacob, the broke, we are wise enough to expect a blessing from the challenge, angel, before we allow him to depart.

Even in that story of Genesis, we are told that, after Adam and Eve had eaten the forbidden fruit and had blamed the woman and the serpent for their trespass, the Lord God said to the serpent: "Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil: he hath sinned, and is now of the seed of the serpent!"

For such achievement of MORAL VIGILANCE, Adam and Eve ought to have been ready to thank the serpent!

So, when you are willing to give the devil his due; if, after your acts of honesty, you find that you have opened and your spiritual growing-pains increased.
